

SUSTAINABLE LEADERSHIP

Leadership Salon

JØRGEN
RANDERS

SPEAKERS BIO

Jorgen Randers (born 1945) is professor of climate strategy at the Norwegian Business School, where he works on climate and energy issues, scenario analysis and system dynamics. He lectures widely at home and abroad on sustainable development issues – particularly on the future and climate change – for all types of corporate and non-corporate audiences.

Jorgen Randers has spent one third of his life in academia, one third in business, and one third in the NGO world. He is non-executive member of several corporate boards in Norway, including the state owned Postal Service. He also sits on the sustainability council of The Dow Chemical Company in the US and Astra Zeneca in the UK.

He was President of the Norwegian Business School BI 1981 – 89, and Deputy Director General of WWF International (World Wide Fund for Nature) in Switzerland 1994 – 99. He chaired the Commission on Low Greenhouse Gas Emissions who reported in 2006 to the Norwegian cabinet on how Norway can cut its climate gas emissions by two thirds by 2050.

He has written a number of books and scientific papers. He co-authored “The Limits to Growth” in 1972 and its sequels in 1992 and 2004. In 2012 he published “2052 – A Global Forecast for the Next Forty Years”, which is now available in 9 languages.

He has received many prizes and awards, including an honorary doctorate from the Anglia Ruskin University in Cambridge UK. He is a full member of the Club of Rome.

EVENT INFO

Welcome again to Leadership Salon. The topic for this evening is “The future of the planet. Implications for leadership education.” This serious, but interesting topic will be explained to us by professor Jørgen Randers. He will share with us his thoughts about how the future of the planet should influence today’s leadership education. Everyone is welcome to ask questions at the end of his presentation.

Date: December 9

Address: Radisson Blu Hotel Shanghai New World, 88 Nanjing road, Ballroom C, 2nd floor
上海新世界丽笙大酒店 南京西路88号, 园景楼2楼宴会厅C

Registration: 18:30

Presentation: 19:00

Entrance fee: RMB 50

Please register by clicking HERE